SBHS Student Showcase at The Gallery through March 3, 2017

OLIVIA HUTCHINSON

South Brunswick High School art teachers Dianne Belnay, Laurie Budhu, Norman Chow, Katie McMillan, Betty Ann Snediker and Cassandra Stedina have each selected six works of current art students to display in this exhibit. The chosen works represent a wide range of experience, from first semester art to honors portfolio work. A number of acrylic landscapes give us an opportunity to view similar subjects handled in different ways. Many fine still lifes are here, in charcoal, pencil, colored pencil acrylic and mixed media. Portraits are presented in ink, film photography, charcoal, colored pencil, acrylic and digital painting, showing the skills and imagination of the artists. Three charcoal studies with skulls show the different viewpoints brought to their subject by the artists.
